Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 30 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Fine and dry throughout, feeling warm with a sea breeze.

Today:
Any morning fog soon lifts, leaving a dry day with lengthy clear spells and plenty of sunshine. Feeling warm with light winds, but coastal areas feeling cooler with a sea breeze. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying dry through the evening and overnight, with lengthy clear spells persisting for many. North and east areas will see some low cloud and hill fog through the early hours. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Monday:
Any early cloud and hill fog will soon clear, leaving another warm, dry day with plenty of sunshine. Some fair-weather clouds bubbling up in the afternoon, with a sea breeze. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Very warm and sunny Tuesday, with light winds. Becoming unsettled Wednesday: cooler and cloudier with showers, occasionally heavy and thundery. Breezier with sunshine and showers Thursday, giving a fresher feel.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.